Subject: Net Metering

I support South Carolina joining the majority of states in allowing the sale of electric power back to electric utilities through net metering.

This is a very small step for utility companies (although they vigorously oppose, which is natural).

However, it is a very large step in inducing energy consciousness in electric users, and fostering the development of alternative sources of energy, particularly peak energy.

Please put me and my family into the support column.

Thanks,
Tom Snider
